You can use your e-account to access a variety of materials in our collection, all of which can be found on our website www.humlib.org:
eBooks and Audiobooks: We have a large collection of eBooks and audiobooks. Sign up with either Libby (which works on Apple or Android devices) or Overdrive (which works on all devices). Both programs access the same collection; they are just set up a bit differently. Take a look and see which you prefer.
Digital Magazines: With RB Digital, you can read issues of your favorite magazines, such as National Geographic and The Atlantic. Here's a quick tutorial on how to sign up.
Articles and Databases: Many high-quality databases are available for your research needs. Some key options are Masterfile for articles and academic journals, and MEDLINEPlus for medical information.
Chilton Auto Guides: If you are looking to do some DIY work on your car, check out the online database of Chilton Auto Guides, which provides step-by-step instructions, diagnostic trouble codes, specifications, and troubleshooting guides, as well as close-up photographs and illustrations, videos, animated graphics, vacuum and wiring diagrams.
If you have any questions or have trouble using any of our online features, please give us a call at 269-1915. Library staff is working Tuesdays through Saturdays 10 to 5 and will be able to assist you over the phone.

eAccount - arcangelrainbowwarrior@gmail.com - Gmail - Microsoft Edge

I understand you received an eAccount with the Humboldt County Library yesterday. The accompanied letter explained how your new eAccount could be used, which is for electronic resources only. Unfortunately, at this time during COVID, if you had not previously established yourself as a Humboldt County Library card holder, your new account is limited to electronic resources. We are sorry for the inconvenience you are experiencing; however, the Library's current services are under compliance by the California Public Health Department along with our local Health Department Officer.

As soon as the Library is able to open for full services, we will be eager to do so. Until then, we hope you understand our current limitations – all in an effort to keep our public and staff safe during this pandemic.
